

Tuition fees and other charges paid by students at the University of Michigan and Michigan State College have doubled in recent years. Whereas students paid 20 per cent of the U.-of-M. operating cost in 1929, students today pay double that amount—40 per cent, said Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, in a conference with Governor G. Mennen Williams at Lansing. Dr. John A. Hannah, head of M. S. C., pointed out that Michigan colleges are now competing with other agencies for state aid in a way which did not exist a few years ago. The result is that state legislatures have been increasingly reluctant to appropriate funds for colleges in amounts needed to finance higher education adequately. If college fees are increased further, only privileged groups will have advantages of higher education, the two college presidents warned.

One of the best things to hit the Michigan conservation movement in many years is the state park work program, performed by inmates from Michigan prisons. A fall run and winter sports improvements are being completed at the Porcupine Mountains State Park near Ontonagon. Construction work is being pushed also at the Tahquamenon State Park in the Upper Peninsula. Two state recreation areas are being being by work programs: Pontiac Lake area and Waterloo recreational area, both in southern Michigan.

Kim Sigler, still carefree and an aviation enthusiast, is not a possible candidate for Republican nomination for governor in 1950. Interviewed recently by reporters, Sigler replied: "Why should I run for public office? I'm 35, having a good time and free to take any law case or fly my plane where I want, when I want." Sigler recommended that Republicans make an issue of the C. I. O. "control" of the state Democratic party.

Michigan farmers have completed in recent weeks the largest harvest of corn, oats and barley—all feed grains—on record in the state. The farm crop was 26 per cent above 1948 and 21 per cent higher than the previous record crop in 1942. October harvesting weather was nearly perfect.

It will cost you 12 1/2 per cent more to travel on eastern railroads as result of a rate increase granted at Washington. This increase has been necessary because of higher wages and other operating costs, it is explained.

The Michigan 1948 apple crop is 72 percent above average with an estimated production of 11,735,000 bushels. All fruit production was 46 per cent above a 10 year average.

Louis M. Nims, Commissioner of the State Department of Revenue, announces that state revenue collections for October, 1948, brought an increase of $1,982,015.07 over October, 1947. The retail sales tax increase was over $300,000, the utilities tax brought an increase of $1,500,000. The total tax collected by the department or the current fiscal year shows an increase of $302,220.19 over the same period in 1948.

"Forced saving plan"—such is the verdict of C. B. Wilson, President of General Motors, with reference to company-paid pensions won by C. I. O. from Ford Motor Company, U. S. Steel Corporation, and other big business concerns. Wilson calls for an end to "shotgun-bargaining methods" and favored "adequate federal pensions operated on a sound basis."

State department heads have requested legislative appropriations in 1950 of nearly $100,000,000, above amounts appropriated for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1950. Comment by Governor G. Mennen Williams: "We will unquestionably need new revenues to operate at present levels." Robert F. Steadman, State Controller, has been asked to yield a sharp tax on budget requests for more money.

More self-reliance by farm people to solve their own health problems on a local community basis was recommended by panel speakers at the Third Michigan Rural Health Conference sponsored by the Michigan State Medical Society. Authorities agreed that "there is too much reliance placed on the federal government" the remedy rural health conditions.

Reflecting the jittery thinking of many citizens about atomic warfare was a recent news report that salt mines beneath Detroit offered an ideal refuge for munition plants; a recent article in Colliers that Detroit was the number one target for atomic bomb attack; and when war developed with Russia. What next?

Indies Meet West Branch

The Grayling Independents are scheduled to bump into the powerful West Branch independent basketball squad at the Grayling High gym this Wednesday evening in a non-conference fray. West Branch is touted to be as strong as last year while Grayling has pulled up three consecutive wins so far this season by dropping Pinconning there Saturday night by a 58 to 41 count to add them to Harrison and Mio who were defeated by the local basketweavers earlier this season.

Wednesday night should be a great ball game, one that will be worth watching. Janish, West Branch center, is still with the squad and will again probably bear the brunt of the West Branch offensive. This 6-foot, 5 inch pivot man is a former Purdue varsity star and was a member of the Detroit Falcons professional team before taking up coaching at Rose City High School.

On Saturday night at Pinconning, Grayling in a tight first half managed to grab at 21 to 18 lead by rest time and completely routed the host team in the last half to win going away.

Ted Bennett with 9 field goals and 3 foul shots for a 21 point total lead the Indies to victory. Chuck Feldhauser starting at center in the absence of Roger Giegling, who was ill, hit the meshes for 14 points. Sandy Thompson added 9 points, Ed Smith 8 markers, Don Gish 4 and Ross Thompson 2.

Pieper and Bieshinski, Pinconning forwards with 11 and 10 points respectively led the loser's scoring. 18 fouls were called on the host squad while Grayling committed but 9.

The victory gave Grayling three Mid-State League victories against no defeats. The Indies have now rung in 149 points while 100 points have been scored against them.

Vikings Face Boyne City

The Grayling High School Vikings with a victory over the Mancelona Ironmen tucked under their belt a tough Boyne City five here Friday night to open the home stand of the 1949-50 basketball season.

Boyne City is expected to floor a tough, well-coached squad again this year and the Vikings will have to fight all the way to have victory number two at the game's end.

At Mancelona last week, the Vikings trailed throughout the game until the end of the third quarter when they tied up the game at 21 all. In the final period, Grayling slashed in 11 points to the Ironmen's 5 to take the game going away on a 32 to 26 count.

As the game started, the Grayling team began to have trouble with the small gym floor as the Mancelona players kept a tight defensive check on them. All field goal attempts were hurried and all missed. The Ironmen's tight defensive play, however, resulted in many fouls being called on them with the Vikings cashing in to stay in the ballgame. At the end of the first quarter, Grayling trailed 7 to 5.

Grayling held their own during the second half and seemed to be bothered less by the small playing area. The score at halftime with Grayling still trailing was 15 to 13.

During the third quarter, the Vikings picked up speed to tie 21 all and as the fourth quarter opened went in the lead. The game gave the Grayling team a real test as they had to come from behind all of the time.

Jim Feldhauser with 11 points and Wilfred Laurent with 10 led the Vikings' scoring. Ernie Miller added 8, Jack Trudeau 2 and Bob Rasmussen 1. Mancelona's two forwards, Fleet with 9, and Denner with 8 led the Ironmen's offensive. Grayling's total was 9 field goals 14 foul shots and 10 fouls committed, while Mancelona made 10 field goals, but only 6 foul shots while committing 20 fouls.

The Viking reserves also were victorious coming from behind in the final seconds to win 23 to 22. Duane Worden with 10 points led the little Viking's scoring.

Michelson Memorial Church School Notes

The sudden arrival of winter bit deeply into the church school attendance Sunday, trimming the total down to the lowest figure of the quarter. Best attendance honors went to the Fourth Grade for 81. Birthday anniversaries were celebrated by Luella Thompson and Florence Beck in the intermediate department and Kathy Thompson in the primary department. Monthly award pins were presented to Nancy Thompson, Priscilla Pettengill, Donna Fenton, Neddy Wiggins, Carole Anne Gross, Billie Mosher, Kay Ann Thompson and Gary Dunham in the kindergarten department, and to Sandra Dunham, Joe Robertson, Kathy Thompson, John Bond, Carol Fenton, Karen Macleay, Mickey Paul Roberts, Anna May Staniel, Christine Lutz, Oscar Horning, Maryda Stillwagon, Clara May Wolcott, Roger Corbin and Philip Faustman, in the primary department.

All members of the junior department will be entertained at a party in the church parlors immediately after school on Friday, December 2. The junior department consists of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

The Youth Fellowship group will be hosts to other groups at a mass Youth Fellowship meeting on Sunday afternoon, at five o'clock. All young people in the city, twelve years or older are cordially invited to attend this interdenominational meeting.

All the mothers of Sunday School children are urged to meet in the church parlors at 2:30 P. M. on Thursday, December 8, when Miss Doris Adams, children's worker for this area, will conduct a Christmas clinic, presenting many new and interesting ways of celebrating Christmas in the home. Miss Adams has gift suggestions, decorating ideas and activities in which children of various ages may participate. All mothers of younger children particularly, will find the clinic interesting and helpful.

Cards smaller than 3 by 4 inches, must be prepaid at the first class rate of 3 cents per ounce. If you are not sure of a persons address and want it forwarded to them Postmaster McDonnell advises that it is best to send them first class (3 cents) as first class mail is sorted first, delivered first and forwarded when necessary.

Patrons are urged to have their Christmas parcels in the mail by December 10th to facilitate an early and safe delivery by Christmas. Especially parcels to New York, Texas and California. Such parcels may be endorsed, "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

Greeting cards for local delivery should be in the mail starting December 15th to make it possible for the personnel of the local Post Office to have them delivered by December 24th, thereby making it possible for the employees to spend Christmas day with their families. Two new mail drop boxes have been installed, one at the corner of Chestnut and McClellan Sts. (US-27) and the other at the corner of Michigan and Park Sts. Do not place greeting cards in your residence letter box for collection by the carriers, as the volume of mail to be delivered makes it impossible for the carriers to carry them back to the Post Office. Drop them in one of the six collection boxes, or better still, bring them to the Post Office and hand them in at the window with the stamps all facing one way.

Postmaster McDonnell also points out the necessity of keeping walks and steps free from snow and ice as carriers are prohibited from delivering mail where walks and steps are a hazard.

The wholehearted co-operation by the public has been appreciated in the past, and as Mr. McDonnell states, "he believes they will respond in the same manner this year."

These Things Will Happen If The Anti-Trust Lawyers Have Their Way

When the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed their suit against A&P, we told the American people, our customers, our suppliers and our employees how this attack would affect them.

We said that this attack, if successful, would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

We said that it would mean higher food prices for American consumers.

We said that if they succeed in destroying A&P the way would be cleared for the destruction of other efficient large-scale retailers.

We thought the American people were entitled to know about this threat to their welfare and standard of living.

Since that time, however, the anti-trust lawyers have been making speeches, talking over the radio, writing letters and giving stories to the newspapers, in which they say we are all wrong.

They say that this suit will not close a single A&P store; and that instead of raising food prices it will lower them.

And they have tried to give the impression that nobody will be hurt by this decision except the present owners of A&P.

We don't think that the American people want to be confused by these statements. We know that when they have the facts, they will understand that this case can affect the living standards and the way of life of every American citizen.

Here are the facts:

It Will Destroy A&P

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that "the suit will not result in the closing of a single A&P store", and that "the purpose of the suit is to enjoin A&P from continuing activity which has been held to violate the law."

The fact is that the suit is designed not only to "enjoin" A&P from alleged illegal activities, but actually to destroy the company.

Here is what they have asked the court to do:

Break up A&P's retail stores into seven groups, each of which must be sold to different owners, and operated under new management.

Order us to sell A&P's factories, which produce many of the fine foods you find in our stores, to still other new owners.

Prevent any of the seven groups of stores from operating any of the factories.

None of the present owners, who have made A&P what it is today, can have anything to do with either the stores or the factories.

The first A&P store was opened 90 years ago. For the past 50 years the company has been managed by George L. Hartford and John A. Hartford.

These are the men who have pioneered the policy of low-cost, low-profit, low-price food retailing which has won A&P the patronage of millions of American families and given them more good food for their money.

If the anti-trust lawyers have their way, these men and other company executives will be completely out of the picture. No one can predict what the policies of the new owners of the various parts of A&P will be.

No one can predict that they will sell the same quality food at the same low prices, or that they will keep the same employees, or give them the same high wages, short hours, pensions and security.

Nor, despite the anti-trust lawyers' statement, can anyone tell how many A&P stores will remain open or will be closed.

So, while there may be a food store where your A&P is now located, it won't be your A&P store.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers win their suit it will mean the end of A&P as you know it.

Your Food Will Cost More

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that the suit will not increase, but should decrease, grocery prices.

Anybody who has ever shopped in an A&P store, or has ever taken a high-school course in economics, knows better than that.

Everyone knows that A&P's policy has always been to keep costs and profits at a minimum so that it can sell good food cheap.

The very heart of the anti-trust lawyers' case is that A&P's methods, which they claim are illegal, have enabled the company to undersell competitors. How can anyone possibly say that you will get lower food prices by eliminating the company that has done so much to bring them down?

Actually, there is no question that this suit, if successful, will mean higher food prices for A&P customers.

Here is just one of a number of reasons:

We manufacture many of the quality foods we sell in our stores, such as Bokar, Red Circle and Eight O'Clock coffees, Ann Page foods, White House milk, and many others.

The anti-trust lawyers admit that we pass along these manufacturing savings to our customers in the form of lower prices.

But, the anti-trust lawyers have asked the court to order us to get rid of our manufacturing facilities, which would put an end to all these savings.

This means that if these A&P brands continued to be manufactured, you would have to pay higher prices for them wherever you found them.

The anti-trust lawyers say that food prices would go down in other stores. They claim that food manufacturers would be able to sell cheaper to other grocers because they would not have to make up alleged losses they now incur in selling to A&P.

This, of course, is pure nonsense. The suppliers who voluntarily seek our business and are now rushing to our defense obviously find it profitable to deal with A&P. Actually, their sales to this company enable them to build up their volume, reduce their costs, and sell more cheaply to all grocers.

The elimination of A&P from the picture would tend to increase, rather than decrease, the wholesale cost of food; and this, in turn, will be reflected in increases in retail prices.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A&P out of business you will find your food bill is higher.

Others Will Be Hurt

If A&P is destroyed, no businessman could safely pursue an aggressive sales policy designed to lower prices and give his customers a better deal if by so doing he takes business away from any competitor.

Even if the anti-trust lawyers have no intention now of prosecuting other suits, a decision against A&P will establish a precedent that could be used by the present anti-trust lawyers, or any future anti-trust lawyers, to destroy any efficient business that buys cheaply, sells cheaply, and grows big in the process.

Such a decision would mean the end of the vigorous, healthy price competition which has given this country the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any people anywhere in the history of the world.

The anti-trust lawyers are trying to give a new interpretation to the anti-trust laws that, instead of preserving competition, will reduce competition.

They are trying, by court decision, to impose a new kind of economic policy on the people of this country.

Make no mistake about it. If they succeed in destroying A&P they will be destroying the method of distribution that has helped make the American standard of living the envy of the world.

Is Tito Great?

Some time ago a national magazine called Marshal Tito, the dictator of Yugoslavia, the most important man in the world. This may have been an exaggeration, but the reasoning behind it is clear. Tito has been the first leader within the Soviet orbit to break with the Kremlin and get away with it—all the others who have tried it have been liquidated without a delay, as in Czechoslovakia. If Tito can continue to get away with it, and if Yugoslavia remains independent of Russia, it will be, in Walter Lippmann's phrase, "a windfall for Italy and the western powers."

Americans will make a grave mistake if they think Tito's action is the result of a change of heart so far as communism as a principle is concerned. Tito has been a revolutionary and an underground fighter all his life—there can be no doubt but what his guerilla activities during the war were of great service to the Allies. He is tough and able. At the same time, he believes passionately in Marxian principles. His break with the Soviet Union was primarily caused by two developments. First, he believes that Stalin and the other top Russians have gone astray from the true communist path. Second, and perhaps most important, he is also a nationalist and he is bitterly opposed to having his country exist simply as a Soviet satellite, with no power of decision of its own and subject to the whims of the Kremlin. In other words, he wants a communist Yugoslavia but he also wants an independent Yugoslavia.

In any event, an independent Yugoslavia, communist as she may be internally, is a great asset to the West. Walter Lippmann believes that we should play our hand carefully in the matter, and not force Russia into a position where she might feel that Tito must be eliminated for reasons of "face" and security. He writes: "Tito should be helped. . . But no sophomoric illusions should be entertained about converting him into a military satellite of the West."

Merchants Buy Girl's Team New Uniforms

On Wednesday afternoon, 7 members of the Frederic High School Basketball team started to canvass the town to raise money for new uniforms. In less than one hour the merchants and townspeople had responded so generously to the fund that the girls had enough to buy the fifteen new uniforms for the team.

Those who gave donations and made it possible for the girls to have the new uniforms were: Hinkle's Tavern, AuSable Hotel, Krueger's Food Market, Lozon's General Store, Thompson's Stand-ard Service, Wm. Leng Garage, AuSable Souvenir Works, Kaiser's Coffee Bar, Ace Leng, Bob Schrandt, Lyle Dunkley, Mrs. Edith Payne, Elroy Barber.

The girls have been trying for two years to raise enough money for uniforms and as a last resort decided to enlist the aid of the merchants.

The businessmen of Frederic will be greatly rewarded for their part in helping them buy uniforms when the girls take the floor in their new suits the first part of December against Indian River. All the girls on the squad wish to thank these people for their generosity.

Rising Road Costs To Create Havoc

Rising road maintenance costs threaten to consume the greater part of all highway revenues thereby seriously curtailing necessary capital improvements in our road transportation plant, says Harry T. Ward, President, Michigan Good Roads Federation.

"Federal Public Roads Commissioner Thomas H. MacDonald pointed out in a recent speech that nation-wide the amount spent for maintenance in 1948 was nearly double that spent in 1941. In 1936 maintenance expenditures for all roads were about 24 per cent of the total highway program; in 1941, 31 per cent and in 1948, 39 per cent. Only increased capital improvements can halt these rising maintenance costs," said Ward quoting Commissioner MacDonald.

The Michigan situation is as bad as the national picture, according to Ward. In connection with the state trunkline system maintenance costs in 1948 were more than double the 1940 figure, which was 31 per cent of the total trunkline program less Federal aid which cannot be used for maintenance purposes. In 1941 maintenance was 28 per cent of the program, while in 1948 it rose to 38 per cent. Their maintenance costs average more than 180% over 1940.

The situation among the 83 county road commissions is far worse than the trunkline problem. Many counties have no construction programs at all since all their funds must be used for maintenance, said Ward.

"Our roads are wearing out or becoming obsolete faster than we can replace them with the present rate of funds available. And the tragic part of it is that our citizens are paying more to use these obsolete and dangerous roads than it would cost to provide additional funds to replace them with modern, safe and convenient highways."

Letters To The Editor

American Legion Hospital,
Battle Creek, Michigan
Room 65

Dear Sirs:

I was quite surprised this week when I started to read the Avalanche, when I ran across the picture of the Fader children, stating their parents have T. B., and the plea to buy Christmas Seals, to aid the fight against T. B. Mrs. Fader was one of my roommates until this week, when she was transferred to the East Pavilion. I have been here in the "san" for nearly two years and it is encouraging to know the fight against T. B. is going on "outside" as well as inside the hospitals.

T. B. is no respecter of your station in life and the sooner it is made easier for everyone to have X-Rays, the sooner it will be stamped out.

The sad thing about this disease is that it makes great strides toward destroying healthy tissues before you feel any symptoms. An X-Ray shows if you are okay or not.

Your camera may show a picture of health, but your X-Ray may tell another story.

Take the advice of one who found out the hard way, and have an X-Ray and buy seals to help protect not only yourself but others.

ALL INNER TALES

BY PETE

I remember when I was still too young to "tell time," I was greatly fascinated by the pendulum of our old grandfather clock, and the stories my Grandpa Bradshaw, (Uncle Edd), to almost everybody in northern Kent and Montcalm Counties, told me about the natural law upon which it operated. It stood in a far corner of our living room and a fly couldn't have crawled between its top and the ceiling. Outside my father's old long-stemmed pipe it was our most prized possession. No matter how far that giant pendulum would swing to the right or to the left it always swung back, and somehow I became imbued with a great faith in the rightness of a great over-ruling Power that caused things to balance and come out right whether we understood it or not.

Then there was my Grandfather's Medals. He was a Civil War Vet, and each of those three medals was won in the line of duty, of course. No. 1 was for peeling more spuds than any other yank soldier in the army; No. 2 was for out-running twenty Southerners. The way he explained it was that one scared yank could easily run faster than twenty southerners who were only just mad; No. 3 was harder to explain. That was for being the last man in his battalion to go down. He said he was just too darn scared to run. That was my first inkling that my grandfather might be somewhat of a story teller.

Then there was a picture of men on horseback in Australia herding millions of jackrabbits into enclosures to be slaughtered for food. I learned that once wolves and coyotes had been a great pest and that they had poisoned them off, then the jackrabbits they fed upon multiplied and became a still greater pest, eating all the grass and vegetation needed for cattle. The lesson seemed to be that man had monkeyed with nature's balance and had learned that it couldn't be done, but my grandpa pointed out that since rabbits were better for food than wolves or coyotes, he should think they were better off.

Later when we moved north into the lumberwoods, I learned that a tree might lean one way, but could be fallen in any of three directions. By knocking it just right and holding one corner, I've seen great pine trees swung in a half-circle as they crashed to the ground, and made to fall across a skidway or in some other advantageous position, showing that man could monkey with the laws of nature to his own advantage. As years have passed I've seen the horns bred off cattle; the auto, truck, and tractor take the place of horses. I live in a "push-button" house on a pleasant lake surrounded by every modern convenience, and especially my 48 Buick sedan is equipped with so many gadgets I can't always find the right button to push. It's an alarming thing when all you want is to heat the lighter to light your pipe, and the windows start coming down, the rear window wiper starts going like mad, and the heater and radio goes on. As I pull to the side of the road to dig a match out of an inmost pocket, I wonder if man hasn't gone too far. I think of that old grandfather clock and wonder if it isn't about time for the pendulum to begin to swing back.

SHORT STORY

Baying The Moon

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

THE ALPHA, Alpha, Alpha, Alpha fraternity at Boynton university is responsible for the fate of Percival Oakes. It happened this way.

During his freshman year the AAAA's pledged Percy to membership, and initiated him into the mystic three R's. (Rites, Rituals and Regulations.) Percy took it like a man. When ordered to imitate a dog howling at the moon, he did his level best. The result was astonishingly successful. Percy surprised even himself.

The brother AAAA's cheered loudly and clamored for encore. Percy obliged a second time and a third. He was immensely pleased with the applause and at the attention he attracted.

The next day, en route to class, Percy was stopped by a grave-faced sophomore and asked to give his imitation of a dog howling at the moon. For a moment he hesitated, conscious of a circle of grinning faces that had silently formed about him, faintly resentful of the fact that the brothers of the AAAA had made public the discovery of his hidden genius. He glanced once more into the grave face of the youth who had accosted him and then threw back his head and bayed lustily.

A mighty roar of applause greeted the rendition. There were cries of "More!" "More!" Percy obliged a second time and then once more.

Returning to college in the fall, Percy had completely put from his mind the cause and fact of his last year's popularity. There were other and more important things to occupy his interest. He was now a sophomore, with all the rights and liberties and sensations of importance that are synonymous with that lofty position. Best of all, he was now unhampered by the 30 odd freshmen rules that had last year cramp his activities.

One sophomore caused Percy brain to swim, there was loveliness and intelligence and femininity all combined. Unhappily, it took him a fortnight to negotiate an introduction. Her name was Delia Winter, and she was as popular as she was beautiful. This was discouraging and disheartening. Percy could offer nothing; she had her pick of the college.

IT WAS one of the Saturday night informal dances at the college gym. They had been dancing together for perhaps 60 seconds when Delia looked up at him and said: "Aren't you the boy who can imitate a dog howling at the moon?" Her eyes twinkled.

Percy reddened to the ears. He felt a chill, a horrible apprehension. "No," he bleated. "No! Whoever told you that is crazy!"

Delia didn't press the subject, but Percy knew he was sunk. He let a month slip by before he could conjure enough courage to ask for a date, felt pitifully grateful when she assented.

Within the following month he kept five dates with Delia, but it was always the same: the "thing" was always there between them. He thought she must think him ridiculous. She pitied him.

During the intermission at the Dartmouth victory dance, Percy and Delia strolled out onto the now dry ice-skating rink and sat down on a bulwark and looked the moon. Because of his great and hopeless love Percy was moody, unhappy, thoughtful. Suddenly he was startled by the petulant tone of his beloved.

He looked at the moon and from his throat there came rich tones of a baying hound.

"I think" must be wonderful."

RED CROSS CHAPTERS MEET
VARIED NEEDS OF SERVICEMEN

The Red Cross Home Service worker looked up from her desk to find an old man holding a telegram and twenty-five dollars.

"My boy wants to come home, but he hasn't got the money for such an expensive trip," the old gentleman said. "He has just returned from 2 years overseas service and is getting a leave before reassignment. His mother has been very sick and I think he might help her to get well. We are living on our family allowance and whatever money my son can send, but I've scraped together this $25. Can you give me enough more to bring him home?"

After verifying the facts, the Home Service worker sent a telegram to the Red Cross field director at the boy's camp, telling of the father's request and of the offer of the twenty-five dollars he could so ill afford. The following day she received an answering wire from the field director:

Under federal statute and regulations of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, the American Red Cross furnishes volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of the armed forces and acts in matter of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their armed forces.

"Return twenty-five dollars to father. Army granting emergency leave and arranging for air transportation home. We are arranging for maintenance and return transportation."
